Hello everyone! 😊

My name is Meina. I'm a Computer Science student going into sophomore year in September, and I'm running for the Head of Tech position. I have attended quite a lot of events such as Interview Preparations workshops by Amazon and Tech Talks with Modulr and they were all very helpful.

My main goal for the society as Head of Tech is to organize even more Interview and CV workshops by tech companies like Google and Amazon around October, November and January since it's the period where a lot of internships applications open and companies do coding/telephone/skype interview. Therefore, these will be a big plus for everyone. I am also planning on inviting more companies for Tech Talks during the academic year since they are interesting (in my opinion) and broaden our knowledge on things we don't know/ know little. Furthermore, I plan on organising more events in partnership with CompSoc, Women in STEM, Women in Business, EdIntelligence and some other cool societies. Finally, I plan on working together with the new Head of Sponsorship to get more partners for events and for the society itself.

Meina.
